

LIFESTYLES

02 June 2020

Sharing the work of North West Support Services across the North West Region

Stephen Inkson, who leads our Myalla Jam Session and Aaron Hopper, who works with musicians towards public performances are now leading us in a musical recovery from the coronavirus pandemic.

If we can't gather at Myalla the next best thing is to bring the music to the people.

Stephen and Aaron only need an audience of two to bring you your favourite covers intermingled with the mastery that has taken Aaron to festivals all over the world.

Their first mini concert was at West Mooreville Studio.

Eastside Studio, Devonport was next with two sessions. The microphone is always open.

We will be running two concerts in Burnie and two in Devonport each week until we can all meet and jam at Myalla and Eastside again.

Wednesdays      10.30 am and 12.30 pm      West Mooreville Studio, Burnie
Thursdays      10.30 am and 12.30 pm      Eastside Studio, Devonport

Numbers are limited because of the restrictions. Talk to you Direct Service Coordinator if you want someone to go.

Also, watch out for the guest artists. Curtis could pop up to play bass, James could drop in and drum, Pam is going to join in with her keyboard and one of our Direct Service Coordinators might drop by and belt out a favourite or two.
